In-Company Training

In addition to our public courses, IASeminars is also able to provide on-site training, delivered by subject-matter experts and tailored to meet the client's specific requirements.

Such in-company training provides our clients with the opportunity to have international experts delivering customized content at a time and location of their choice. This can be a cost-effective solution to training a whole team, since pricing is per instructor day and not per participant.

Further savings will result from less time away from the office, as well as minimized travel and accommodation costs.
